

HAREF

health & race equality forum

A network of people from Black, Asian and Minority Ethnic (BAME) communities, health services and other organisations, working together to reduce health inequalities linked to ethnicity and culture

Communication • Connections • Challenge • Change

HAREF works to:

- Identify health issues that affect BAME communities
- Give a voice to BAME communities about health inequalities
- Support BAME communities, the NHS and other services to reduce health inequalities and increase equity of access

We can help by:

- Supporting the engagement of people from BAME communities in the commissioning and development of health services
- Organising meetings where participants cooperate on issues of diversity and health inequalities, particularly the CCG Community Forum and the HAREF Network
- Undertaking research and consultation to explore the needs of people across BAME communities
- Raising awareness and delivering training on equality, diversity and health
- Supporting the work of others to improve health outcomes for people from BAME communities
- Keeping people informed about developments in relation to equality, diversity and health via our e-bulletin
